

We use adapters as mediators between frontend services (they provide REST APIs) and the choreographer.

Adapter microservices provide a layer of abstraction that simplifies frontend interactions with core microservices, enhancing modularity and maintainability.

